CUT-OFF GERMAN FORCE SURRENDERS TO FRENCH

Churchill Now in Washington for Conference

Military and Naval Staff Arrives With The Prime Minister

Trip Leads to Conjecture Plans To Be Shaped Up for New Front

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill arrived here tonight against a background of an Allied victory in Tunisia and German jitters over invasion for more war talks with President Roosevelt.

He was accompanied by a staff of military and naval experts.

His swift trip to the United States after the sudden collapse of Axis arms in Tunisia led to conjecture that he had come for a final checking over of plans for hammering open another front on the European continent and perhaps to project Allied strategy even beyond that point.

The White House gave no details of the exact purpose of the fifth Churchill-Roosevelt parley in twenty-one months, and the fourth since the United States plunged into the conflict.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early issued only this brief announcement:

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has arrived in Washington. He was met by the President upon arrival and will be the President's guest for the duration of his visit. Mr. Churchill was accompanied by a staff of experts, military and naval.

LORD BEAVERBROOK
ALSO IN WASHINGTON

Lord Beaverbrook, London publisher and former British Cabinet member, also has arrived in Washington, authoritative sources disclosed, although they said he was not a member of the official party. It was believed, however, that Lord Beaverbrook, who has been a close collaborator with Mr. Churchill on industrial problems, probably will participate in the joint talks.

The current Anglo-American conference gave added significance to the secret letter which President Roosevelt entrusted to Joseph E. Davies to deliver to Joseph Stalin in Moscow. The contents of the message have not been revealed and

Revolt Soars In Europe After Defeat

Italians Not Likely to Fight

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—While the impact of the Axis' North African defeat was reflected in reports of soaring revolt in Europe, the Nazi-controlled Danish radio predicted today "this battle for Germany is about to begin."

The broadcast was recorded by The Associated Press, it said, and behind his fortifications, Hitler had from 14,000,000 to 15,000,000 soldiers set to meet the invader.

"Germany has switched to the strategic defensive, which does not exclude offensive action," the broadcast asserted. "This battle for Germany is about to begin." The Axis radio reported that anti-Fascist and anti-war slogans were appearing in Berlin Italian towns. One poster in Venice read:

"People of Italy, wake up. Soon the banner of liberty will again fly over Italy."

The Roma radio said Italian Col. Pallaroni and other Fascist military men had been captured and shot by Croat patriots.

A Reuters dispatch from Zurich said increasing anti-German manifestations had occurred in recent days in Alsace-Lorraine.

In Norway, German soldiers were forbidden to appear in public or in restaurants because of the hostility of the population.

Henri Queuille, former French Cabinet minister, who recently escaped from France, said he had heard a senior Nazi officer say "We have lost the war."

He described Italian occupation troops morale as "absolutely disastrous" and said he was certain they would not fight.

He quoted Italian officers as asking: "When are the Allies going to attack Italy and get rid of the Germans for us?"

Meetings Point To Big Events

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have met on four prior occasions in the last twenty-two months, each conference being followed by some major event bearing on the war, as follows:

August 9, 1941, aboard the United States cruiser Augusta off Newfoundland, the meeting which developed the Atlantic Charter.

December 22, 1941, in Washington, declaration of the United Nations.

June 18, 1942, in Washington, drew up plans for North African invasion.

January 14, 1943, in Casablanca, mapped 1943 offensive.

Demolish Fortified Positions

Soviet Troops Smashing Ahead

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—The Red Army today captured a German fortified position in the battle of Novorossiysk and pounded the Nazi foe in the Caucasus with infantry, artillery and aerial power on a day marked by a continuation of heavy air battles and vigorous activity along the entire front.

The Red Air Force, whose recent exploits have caused the Germans to express official amazement, reported downing thirty-two planes in air combat and twenty-one more were shot down by anti-aircraft fire during the day, as against Soviet losses of eleven planes, said the Soviet midnight communiqué broadcast by Moscow and recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

In an additional announcement Moscow said that Red armies carried out heavy raids on Monday on half a dozen key rail centres behind the German lines, including Kiev, Rybnik and Orsk.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN THE RUSSIAN

The heaviest fighting of the day was in the Kuban, where the remnants of a Nazi Caucasian army which once numbered 200,000 men are backed up against the Black Sea around Novorossiysk. Here, said the midnight bulletin, "Soviet troops continued demolishing enemy fortifications by artillery shelling and air bombardment."

A number of German blockhouses dugouts and other fortifications were blasted to ruins in the region northeast of Novorossiysk, and German soldiers were taken prisoner, the communiqué said, while in the lower reaches of the Kuban River, apparently northwest of Novorossiysk, the German key fortified position fell to the advancing Soviet troops. About a company of Germans was wiped out.

The pulverizing pattern of bombing Germany's whole eastern front supply system was carried into the third successive day Monday by a persistent Red air force onslaught which suggested that the Red Army is preparing for its first summer offensive.

The Russians reported in the midnight bulletin that the Germans on the Leningrad front after a heavy artillery shelling tried to reconnoitre the Soviet positions. "Two German attacks were beaten off by our units," the communiqué said. "The enemy lost about 700 officers and men in killed alone."

PLANES ACTIVE OVER NEW GUINEA

In the air, Allied planes were active over New Guinea.

Near Lae on the Huon Gulf, attack planes bombed and strafed Labu Lagoon, where the Japanese often try to conceal their supply barges.

Prospects Of Escape Are Bleak

Attlee Reviews Tunisian Blitz

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—Axis prospects for escape from the Allied death trap in Tunisia "now that the Cap Bon peninsula has been crossed by British forces and sealed off," were described by Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee in the House of Commons today in one word: "Bleak."

In a terse review of the Allies' Tunisian thunderbolt climax that out-blitzed the Germans, Mr. Attlee disclosed that the British First Army had lost 1,200 men in killed, wounded and missing in the single stroke that blasted through the Axis central front and opened the gates to Tunis and Bizerte.

Total casualties of both the First and Eighth Armies in the final, overwhelming sweep into the Tunisian tip in April and May—he said—were 10,888 compared with the minimum of 50,000 Axis prisoners taken since May 8, most of them Germans.

And the number of Axis troops throwing down their arms and surrendering is "continually increasing," he said. Various reports from the units mopping up on the battlefield said the opposition was giving up "by thousands."

Mr. Attlee announced that First Army casualties in the "real thunderbolt" that covered thirty miles in thirty-six hours amounted to 1,200 and that since April 17 these forces of Lieutenant-General Kenneth Anderson had lost a total of 8,800 men.

General Montgomery's Eighth Army casualties from April 20 to May 3 were placed at just over 2,400 including wounded and missing.

Viscount Cranborne, Lord Privy Seal, made a similar statement in the House of Lords.

Japanese in New Guinea Stage Raids

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 12 (Wednesday).—The Japanese bombed Merak, on Netherlands New Guinea's south coast yesterday, causing some damage, the High Command announced.

The previous two Allied communiqués had reported Japanese aerial thrusts at Milne Bay, an Australian outpost 300 miles east of Darwin.

Three enemy float planes attacked shipping off Cape Wau, Australia, but inflicted no damage and one plane was shot down.

This also was the second enemy air activity against Allied shipping reported in two days. Yesterday a communiqué told of a small Allied convoy near Milne Bay driving off three Japanese planes.

The noon communiqué today also reported continued clashes of Allied and enemy ground patrols in the vicinity of Mubo, twelve miles south of Salamaua, New Guinea. The clashes occurred in the Green Hill area where the Allies previously had thrown back a counter-attack by the Japanese.

PLANES ACTIVE OVER NEW GUINEA

In the air, Allied planes were active over New Guinea.

B.C.-Yukon Loan At $97,196,200

VANCOUVER, May 11 (AP).—Applications to the Fourth Victory Loan drive in the British Columbia-Yukon drive today totaled $97,196,200, including $31,470,400 from the general public. The area's objective is $110,000,000.

Yukon-Alaska-Pacific River maintained its divisional lead with 77 per cent, compared with Vancouver's 77 per cent. Dawson-Mayo continues at the top in the unit race with 212 per cent, or $63,300 on a quota of $30,000.

British Break-Through Sets Stage for Unconditional Capitulation by Nazis

Axis Fears Allied Invasion

Axis radio commentators, worrying about Allied invasion plans, are advertising to the world their utter over where the blow is going to strike. The German radio insists that the Allies will invade before the end of the Tunisian campaign at (1) Corsica, or (2) Sardinia, or (3) Sicily from Tunisia, or (4) the Italian base on Pantelleria, or (5) Sicily from Malta, or (6) the lower part of Italy's boot.

Main Body of 80,000 Axis Troops Sealed on Cap Bon

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 11 (AP).—French troops have forced the unconditional surrender of Germans trapped in the Zaghouan sector of Tunisia, and are driving on toward the sea to cut off further large forces—those facing the Eighth Army to the south, a French communiqué announced tonight.

A British First Army breakthrough across the neck of Cap Bon Peninsula a few hours earlier had sealed up in that jutting headland the main body of some 80,000 Axis troops. The First Army swept up 20,000 prisoners during the day.

The Germans in the mountainous Zaghouan sector quit and yielded all their material in a surrender delicious to Frenchmen whose own country had been forced to capitulate nearly three years before. It was the first armistice asked of Frenchmen by Germans since the first Great War.

French forces poured eastward toward the sea and Bou Fichta and, the communiqué said, "are realizing encirclement of all Axis troops still on the front facing the Eighth Army" in Enfidaville area, some fifteen miles south of Bou Fichta.

HUMBLING OF GERMANS COMPLETE

The humbling of the Germans in the Zaghouan sector was complete.

Just as the Americans had done in the North, the French followed the Casablanca formula by demanding immediate unconditional surrender and the immediate delivery of all material. The Germans accepted.

There was no indication of the number of surrendered tanks, weapons and other material.

French troops drove through the road to cut them off from their comrades facing the British Eighth Army to the south after the British First Army had captured the base of Cap Bon.

Once established across the neck of the peninsula, First Army also moved into immediate action on both sides of the mountainous strip jutting into the Mediterranean, rounding up 20,000 prisoners during the day and capturing all the territory between Hammamet and Beni Aunian in an eight-mile sweep up the southern axis.

AIRMAN MAKE TREMENDOUS RAID

Allied airmen, called on with other tremendous raid today, on the Mediterranean island, dropping stores and bombs for a continental invasion. Nearly 200 bombers escorted by more than 100 fighter planes smashed at Matruh, Syria, a coastal port to Cap Bon.

The raid followed heavy attacks on airfields in Western Sicily yesterday and the largest daylight raid of the campaign Sunday when nearly 400 planes were over Palermo, Sicily.

Bombs from five squadrons in the day's attack fell as high as 10,000 feet and could be seen by the retreating points when they were back over the African coast. The bombers scored hits on railroad yards, airfields and other targets and set a ship afire in the harbor.

Other Allied planes were reported to have hammered Pantelleria in the sixth raid in four days on that tiny island in the Sicilian Strait, smashing this time at the harbor and hitting several ships.

COMPLETE THRUST ACROSS PENINSULA

Armored forces of the British First Army reached Hammamet at dawn today, completing a lightning thrust across the peninsula from the area of Hammam Lit on the north which resulted also in the capture of Soliman, Gromballa and Menzel Bou Zelfa.

Then they turned and advanced over the two sides toward the end of the peninsula. Axis troops who retreated were captured.

BULLETIN Churchill May Visit Ottawa

CHUNGKING, May 11 (AP).—Japanese troops landed from 168 steam launches on the west shore of Tungting Lake, but were unable to penetrate inland toward Changsha, the Chinese High Command said today. Heavy casualties were reported among the Japanese. Other hard fighting was said to be in progress west of the Taihang Mountains where the Chinese said they were advancing toward the strategically important town of Lingchuan.

HITLER IN WEST

LONDON, May 11 (AP).—A German broadcast recorded by Reuters News Agency tonight said Hitler, whose headquarters had been long described as in the Eastern Front, now is at an unspecified point in the west. There was no immediate elaboration.

Roosevelt Suggested Washington Meeting

LONDON, May 12 (Wednesday).—The current Churchill-Roosevelt conference was suggested by the President, a British source said today, and the Prime Minister readily agreed.

Mr. Churchill's departure was more secretive than any of his previous trips.

He moved to a suburban station where he boarded a special train. High officers of the three fighting services who accompanied him were already there.

TO VISIT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, May 11 (AP).—The External Affairs Department today announced President Enrique Peñaranda of Bolivia and his party will arrive in Ottawa tomorrow. Prime Minister Mackenzie King will meet them.

CRITICIZES NICKEL OFFICIAL'S REMARKS

OTTAWA, May 11 (AP).—J. Goldswell, C.P.F. leader in the House of Commons, today declared that a statement by the president of the International Nickel Company recently was against the best interests of Canada and the war effort.

He said a press dispatch had reported this official as stating that shareholders would be glad to hear that their Norwegian refineries were reported safe and was being maintained under German control.

"A statement of this description should not go unchallenged," said Mr. Goldswell.

Personals Minister Mackenzie said the statement evidently referred, not to International Nickel, but another company.

"Well, it is Falconbridge Nickel, which is associated with International Nickel," said Mr. Goldswell.

He added that the statement of the nickel company president was tantamount to saying the refinery in Norway was being operated with Canadian approval in the midst of a war threatening civilization.

ANOTHER NEW YORK HINTS

OSSENING, N.Y., May 11 (AP).—James J. Hines, sixty-six, former Tammany district leader, must spend another year in Sing Sing Prison, the State Board of Parole decided today.

Hines, serving a four-to-eight-year term on a conviction for conspiring to operate a lottery, appeared before the Parole Board after serving his minimum sentence.

With time off for good behavior, Hines was automatically entitled to a hearing for release on parole.

What of Tomorrow?

PLAYING in the gardens and on the beaches of Victoria today, with their laughing, merry eyes and care-free shouts, are toddlers to whom this war will be only history when they grow up. Each man, each woman, wants for them something better than he, or she, has known. Peace, freedom, security, a gay and a better world—the just is endless. But it is we who help to fashion tomorrow. Tomorrow will be in part the result of what each one of us does today, not what we wish, hope or think—but what we do. There is a still powerful and vicious enemy to be defeated. The fiercest and the longest battles lie ahead. It will need each one in his, or her, place, and all working together, to bring day out of the present night of a suffering world. We know that dawn is breaking, but let us speed the day. We can do that only by fighting now. Victory bonds will fight for those who must remain at home. More, they will cushion the shocks of tomorrow. Tomorrow will be what we make it by our deeds today. Act now—Keep your pledge with tomorrow.

Move Troops To Dominica

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, British West Indies, May 11 (AP).—Transfer of a detachment of troops from here to the British island of Dominica was connected by Reuters News Agency tonight with the troubled political situation on the adjacent French colony of Martinique, but official sources declined comment.

Crediting a Transocean dispatch from Martinique, a Berlin broadcast asserted that United States naval units were en route from Barbados to attack both Martinique and Guadeloupe.

"The two French islands will be unable to defend themselves against a United States invasion, especially since the French warships which fled to Martinique after France's defeat have been disarmed," the broadcast said.

Examination Results Of Victoria College

GERARD R. Wyatt led the second year students of Victoria College in the final examinations, with an average of 90 per cent. It was announced yesterday when the names of successful students were released by the Senate of the University of British Columbia.

The faculty of the college, which is affiliated with the university, states that the work of the second year students was exceptionally good, and that first year students were well up to standard.

Donald L. Holmes headed the first year students with an average of 95 per cent. He was also awarded the Kiwanis Bursary for general all-around proficiency, and outstanding qualities of leadership. The winner is selected following a conference of the Victoria Kiwanis Club and the faculty of the college.

Names of other prize winners appear elsewhere on this page.

SUPPLEMENTALS IN SEPTEMBER

Students who are entitled to supplemental may improve their standing by writing the examinations held in September. Those who, on account of illness, have been granted deferred examinations, may write these at the time of the September supplementals. Students who intend to proceed to Applied Science at the University of British Columbia, have completed the work of the first year in Arts and Science, but have not obtained the standing required in certain subjects for admission to Applied Science, may likewise remove deficiencies by taking the September examinations.

A student is granted a supplemental in a subject which he has taken during the year, provided he has obtained a mark of not less than 30 per cent of the final examination. A candidate, however, will not be granted supplementals in more than six units of work. All students who may write supplementals will receive written notification from the registrar's office.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS FIRST AND SECOND YEARS

The list of successful candidates in both first and second year examinations follows. Partial students are classified only under individual subjects.

PASS LISTS

The general pass list of full undergraduates, and of conditioned undergraduates is classified as follows:

(a) First Class: 80% and above.
(b) Second Class: 65% to 79%.
(c) Passed: 50% to 64%.

Partial students are not classified as above, and their names must be sought under individual subjects. General pass lists and the lists for individual subjects follow:

Juveniles Damage Church Property

City police continue in receipt of reports of damage to church property. Last night's report concerned a church in which three gas stoves were tampered with. Chairs and books also were "thrown around," the report declares. Entry was made through a front door, which was unlocked, and the "marauders" leaving a trail behind them, de-

A cap, or tam, subsequently identified, was found inside the church, according to the police, whose report alleges that it belonged to one of the offenders, a boy of three, whose companion, aged four, also was identified.

Damage was estimated at $15, which the respective parents of the two youngsters agreed to pay.

Missing Girl Found

An eight-year-old girl, reported missing since 3:30 p.m. yesterday, when she was en route from school to her home on Esquimalt Road, was found six hours later by city police.

She was about to board a street car which was not bound in the direction of her home. Apparently quite unharmed, it was found that the child was returned in a police car to her parents.

LATE MRS. DAVID MILLER

David Miller, 824 McClure Street, died on Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Miller was a native daughter of Victoria and received her education at local schools. In 1899, she was married to David Miller, who was secretary of the former well-known firm of Angus Campbell, Ltd. She took a keen interest in I.O.D.E. activities, joined the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, and later was elected regent of the chapter. For many years she served as secretary of the Municipal Chapter, and following that she was chosen secretary of the Provincial Chapter, also for a number of years. Mrs. Miller was appointed a life member of the Agnes Deans Cameron Chapter, the National Chapter and Municipal Chapter of Victoria. She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for many years.

Besides her widower, she leaves one daughter, Captain Maud G. Tomlin, C.W.A.C., and one brother, Frank J. Huijshon, of San Francisco, Calif.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:30 p.m.

Germans Surrender

broken into the rocky beaches of the jutting strip have been reduced to a morose-shattered rubble whose general surrender was considered imminent.

The 20,000 prisoners captured today were collected in the area of Beni Achom and with others being herded to the rear in countless numbers it was estimated that the total soon would surpass 100,000 captured in this final phase of the Tunisian fighting.

What was described by a military spokesman as "probably the last tank battle of the African campaign" was being fought between the British Sixth Armored Division and remnants of a Nazi armored force in the neighborhood of Guelma.

The round-the-clock aerial attacks making it impossible for the enemy to attempt any organized escape from the Cay Bon north trap also are keeping the Axis forces from distributing what food and supplies they have on the peninsula.

British officers report that the Germans already are hurrying to feel the pinch of hunger and it was believed that the food situation alone would force the enemy to halt all resistance.

The advancing British columns reported seeing many fires on Cap Bon, presumably set by the Germans to destroy their supplies as a prelude to a general surrender.

With all the remaining Axis forces in Tunisia now isolated in two pockets, the only semblance of enemy resistance was in the sector to the south, near the Eighth Army position northwest of Enfidaville, where German troops were

"CRASH ACTION"
FOR THE CANADIAN ARTILLERY
ONE OF A SERIES OF "ACTION PICTURES" WITH CANADA'S MECHANIZED ARMY

"ENEMY TANKS ON RIGHT FLANK!" It's Crash Action for a Canadian gun crew. That means they've got to "draw quick" and shoot fast.

As the Field Artillery Tractor grinds to a two-wheel stop, the crew scrambles out and goes into action like the crack of a six-tongued whip. Down goes the platform. Gun and trailer swing into firing position. One man races to remove breech and muzzle covers, as another sets the dial sight and depresses the gun. At the same instant, Number Four heaves the hand spike in place and swings the trail into position. While the auxiliary Tractor thunders up with reserve ammunition trailers, Gunners Five and Six prepare shells for the hungry breech of the big field piece. Smoothly the muzzle comes to bear on the target.

Less than 60 seconds after the Artillery Tractor's wheels skid to a stop, the gun is hurling 25-pound shells at enemy tanks. That's the kind of split-second timing and smooth teamwork which is winning world-wide respect for Canada's mechanized army.

Ford of Canada's 16,000 workers are proud to be represented on Canadian gun teams. The military vehicles which roll, by the thousand, from Final Testing Grounds at Windsor, Ontario, are the finest, sturdiest products which modern craftsmanship can provide. The Field Artillery Tractor is one of more than forty types of battle vehicles produced by Ford of Canada.

Rated by experts among the best-trained, best-equipped striking forces in all history—Canada can well be proud of the army representing her in the world-wide fight for freedom. Proud indeed is Ford of Canada that sturdy, Canadian-made vehicles carry these modern warriors into battle.

A DROP IN THE BUCKET

When the first order of its kind was issued a week ago by the Minister of Labor, decreeing the compulsory transfer of certain men from non-essential to essential work, it was described as a "sweeping order" in press dispatches. Now, it appears, that it does not amount to much. There is a handful of specified businesses and job classifications mentioned in the order. The estimate is made that some 20,000 men might be available throughout the country and that of these only some 10,000 would be found suitable for transfer from their present jobs, either to war industries or to other production which is essential to the economic life of the nation. This is not a "sweeping order," when it is considered, as pointed out by The Toronto Globe and Mail, that 11,000 men are wanted for essential industries in that city alone. In commenting on the order that newspaper says:

"This means that green, unskilled, and undoubtedly in some cases, unsuitable men are to be transferred from the flower shops, the barber shops, taverns, service stations, entertainment emporiums, from driving taxis and from domestic service to the heavy industry field. A percentage of these men undoubtedly will be made useful by the upgrading of semi-skilled hands, but most of them, to be effective, will have to be trained, for which little or no provision has been made."

The National Selective Service scheme has been in operation for a year. In that time what it has accomplished has not touched the fringe of an economic redistribution of labor, and essential industries have benefited hardly at all. It is only now that a measure of compulsion is hinted at, but on a small scale and only in reference to industries in which there are not many able-bodied men. This means that the latest measure can hardly be regarded as a drop in the bucket of filling the vacancies in the ranks of essential industries.

The Government is slow, ponderously slow, in any reform it undertakes. Throughout the war, so as to appease Quebec, it has fought shy of anything saving of compulsion. The result is not only that production for the needs of war lacks sufficient labor, but there is a similar shortage in production essential for home use, in the mines, in the forests, in agriculture and in other branches of industry. The latest "sweeping order" cannot accomplish much and it is not yet clear that the Government, after the present registration of the limited classes to which it applies, intends to use compulsion so as to effect removals from non-essential to essential industry.

WANING AUTHORITY OF PARLIAMENT

In Great Britain the Government is far more responsive to the will of Parliament than the Government in this country, yet the Mother of Parliaments is beginning to get concerned about the method in which the Administration there is exercising its wartime powers. Last week a motion, supported by seventy-one members, declared that "The House, admitting the necessity for war purposes of giving abnormal powers to the Executive, is of opinion that Parliament should vigilantly maintain its ancient right and duty of examining legislation, whether delegated or otherwise." That is an expression of uneasiness about the course of events and it is one that should find double significance in this country where Parliament has been no more than a sleeping partner in government since the beginning of this war. In commenting on the present apathy among the members at Ottawa, The Toronto Globe and Mail has this to say:

"After all, the Cabinet is merely the executive committee of Parliament. As such, all its activities, should be subject to close surveillance by the elected representatives of the people. Even the best of Cabinets is not infallible, and the more vigorously this surveillance is exercised the greater will be the assurance that wise policies will be pursued and efficient standards of administration maintained. It is the bounden duty of Parliament to act as a guardian against any attempt of the Cabinet to arrogate to itself powers which are incompatible with the democratic idea. During the debate on the Address Mr. Brooke Claxton and some other members voiced their dissatisfaction with conditions in the House of Commons, where the influence of the private members has been undergoing a steady decline. Mr. Claxton urged that Parliament should sit more regularly, with intervals of not more than two or three months between sessions, and advocated that all orders having the effect of a general law should be referred to a committee of Parliament for its approval. There unquestionably is a need for such reassertion of the authority of Parliament, and the Government should be pressed to accept some check upon its arbitrary powers."

NEED OF FASTER SHIPS

A plan for reconstruction now, while the war is in progress, and which would give a big impetus in directing trade into its normal channels as soon as possible when peace comes could be followed in the character of the merchant ship-building tonnage being constructed to meet the needs caused by losses through submarine attack. It is now widely recognized that the practice on this continent and in Great Britain, though not to the same extent in the latter country, of building slow merchant vessels is a method of increasing the U-boat menace and a failure to visualize the future of post-war commerce. In Great Britain it is now planned to build faster vessels, to provide that this will be the policy affecting one-third of new construction of merchant ships. No such provision has yet been made on this continent.

Mr. Gerald F. Torrey, a British shipwright, says he views with concern "the future of our merchant navy, not because of lack of skill of our shipwrights who build, or of our sailors who man our ships, but because of the lack of vision and the slack arguments of those who seek to justify the value of low speeds—ships not useful in peace and only sitting targets for U-boats in war. All things have been speeded up except merchant ships. Are we always to be slaves to the fetish that we alone in the world must accept slow service on the excuse that we can only afford slow ships? We have the great asset of our shipwright skill, and yet we accept the cheap and nasty."

Mr. Torrey, too, recalls that because of the Great War and its aftermath British deep-sea a loss of 1,100 ships. Greater losses are faced today, yet there is a timid outlook in the failure to build faster ships which would speed up the various campaigns and help to defeat the submarine menace, and, as well, provide vessels that would be available immediately for the development of post-war trade. There is much talk of reconstruction in the air, but if the example of what is being done in maintaining a merchant marine is any criterion, the aspect of actual planning now remains in the embryonic stage. Mr. Torrey contends, despite the fact that Great Britain is well ahead of other nations in this particular, that "as yet there is no plan for the future of our 'life-line' by which all these benefits come to us—a thriving merchant marine which finds work (not plans) for nearly a million men."

In this view of the situation there is a definite warning for this continent. It is that building for the future, not stop-gap measures, should govern the shipbuilding industry. The faster ships are now the more of them will escape destruction during the war, and, therefore, the more will be available for commerce when peace comes again. The nation that is prepared in this sense is the one that will most speedily adjust itself to peace-time conditions, and, moreover, it will be also the nation which, because it is able to seize upon trade opportunities, can the more easily pursue the path of social reconstruction.

GETTING IT STRAIGHT

Explanation offered by Victory Loan officials yesterday went some distance to straighten out anomalies in the current canvass. It was conceded, for instance, that figures reported for both the services and industrial plants are partial, and not complete, nor can this be remedied immediately, due to the system that has been set up to conduct the campaign. The net result is that Greater Victoria may have caught up $500,000 of the $1,527,550 gap between this community and Greater Halifax; but cannot prove it until the complete returns are received in several days time. That, however, still leaves a million of a lead to catch up, and to pass.

Meanwhile the official figures for general canvass were reported yesterday as: Greater Halifax, $5,593,700; and Greater Victoria, $5,066,150. That left an acknowledged difference of $1,527,550. As explained, Victoria's figures are known to be partial and not current in two groups. It is estimated that between $400,000 and $500,000 additional may have been collected, but still remain to be reported through service and employment channels whose returns are not yet in. Until these reports are made, the additional items cannot be accurately counted.

It is explained, further, that in the general canvass, which alone counts in the inter-city contest, there are three main divisions. These are known as general sales, the armed services, and the industrial plants or employee groups. Halifax is leading by $333,250 on general sales, which are the sales of bonds to the general public. Halifax is known to be leading also in industrial payroll subscriptions, and among the three armed services, but by how much is not precisely known. Ostensibly, the gap in these two latter divisions is in the neighborhood of $1,200,000; but until the books close the final returns will not be clearly known. As stated, Victoria is assumed to have caught up $500,000 of the difference.

The salient fact is that Greater Victoria is still $1,000,000 behind in the inter-city contest. That means that all groups must try to do more. Outside of the general canvass the special-name list has been active, and a very substantial total remains to be added, after the inter-city contest is over. To total subscriptions in this area to Canada's Fourth Victory Loan. Then, and then only, will it be known what Greater Victoria as a whole has done, and this will apply whether the inter-city contest is with us, a win, lose or draw. Every dollar, in both general or special lists, is a useful weapon for Canada.

COL. J. H. McMULLIN

The death of Lieut.-Col. J. H. McMullin yesterday, after a brief illness and at the age of seventy-five, deprives British Columbia of one of its best-known and well-beloved figures. For some twenty years he was at the head of the British Columbia Police, and brought that force up to a state of efficiency known and respected throughout the length and breadth of Canada.

Before that, Lieut.-Col. McMullin was Government Agent at Prince Rupert, a post in which he displayed his mature judgment, kindly disposition, and great executive abilities. A veteran of the Boer War, where he saw service in Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Natal and the Transvaal, he held the Queen's medal with four clasps. During the Great War he became superintendent of recruiting in the northern part of this Province, and was for long identified with the active militia.

The death in action of a son, Sergeant-Observer Francis McMullin, was reported only a few months ago in the casualty lists of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Lieut.-Col. McMullin retired a few years ago from the commission of the British Columbia Police, and had been living in retirement here with his sister, Miss C. M. McMullin. Another son, John, was with him also at the end. The sincerest sympathies will go out to the bereaved in the passing of one so widely known and so genuinely respected in all parts of British Columbia. His friends were legion.

ROMANTIC EXTRAVAGANCE

But Charles at that time was solely bent on destroying the sovereign of Russia, as he had already destroyed the sovereign of Poland, and all Europe fully believed that he would entirely crush the czar, and dictate conditions of peace to the Kremlin. Charles himself looked on success as a matter of certainty, and the romantic extravagance of his views was continually increasing. "One year, he thought, would suffice for the conquest of Russia." No enterprise at that time appeared impossible to him. He had even dispatched several officers privately into Asia and Egypt, to take plans of the towns, and examine into the strength and resources of those countries. —Greasy. ## Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

It was a shock, I can tell you, to find myself translated to the year 1963. How it happened I am not prepared to say. How I got back is as great a puzzle to me. The last thing I remembered before the journey was sitting down in a comfortable chair very tired, and for relaxation and rest I suppose I drifted off into a doze, but I was not prepared to have my mind brought back to a different time phase, one which, as far as I am aware, has not yet occurred. But there it was, you know. Next time I looked at the paper's first lines were unfamiliar, and there at the masthead was the date, May 9, 1963.

Not to put too fine a point upon it, there, in the "Twenty Years Ago Today" column, was a reference to the surrender of Von Arnim's army in Bizerte, to the sealing of the Cap Bon Peninsula, and to Prince's peace offer being immediately rejected. Nearby was an advertisement calling upon all car-owners to trade in their 1962 models for 1963's; with a five-roomed house in the country, complete with cocktail bar and radio-lounge, offered as inducement on the side. The City of Victoria's tax rate, I read, had again been reduced by the exhaustive efforts of the Council, and now stood at 27.0257 mills, in consequence of the "amazing growth." In a tourist trade story I detected, a slight, but charming, reference to Victoria being like "a little bit of New York on the shores of the Pacific." In short, my eyes popped.

I remember, quite vividly, putting on my hat and rushing out of the house. I stared in some bewilderment at the outdoor scene. It was, I thought, the boulevard was still there, and still with the same dandelions, but the Oriental trees planted in it had grown out of recognition. They were spreading and large, whereas they had been mere seedlings when I sat down in my chair. The vacant lots nearby had been built upon, and in a style of architecture with which I was unacquainted. They looked like detachable homes, slung together by wing-nuts and bolts at the corners—and this I learned subsequently was the case, because I later saw a neighbor knock down his house, turn it around towards the sun and reassemble it, all within five minutes. Very much intrigued, I strolled towards town.

I must say now that I think it is a very dangerous practice to put ninety-horsepower scooters in the hands of six-year-old children. What if they are toyed? As I walked, a scooter came out of a side path, turned the corner on one wheel, and went off along the sidewalk at a clear fifty miles-an-hour. I had jumped a pikeet fence, without touching the rails and was safe in somebody's garden; but only barely so. Even as I picked myself up, a helicopter came down in the garden. Out stepped a dear old lady with silver-white hair, her arms full of parcels. She waved to me, gave a customer's nod, and said, "I have my licence. I got my wings back in 1945. This is an Air-Rumbleton. I used it for shopping." Gravely, I examined the licence on the dashboard, and advised her to change the oil in the sump twice a year. She nodded brightly, told me the wings of the helicopter, and wheeled it back-wards, into a trim garage behind the nasturtiums. I raised my hat, and dashed out of the gate to the open street.

I must confess I was shaken. It is a shocking thing to be separated from your own time-phase. Fifty-miles-an-hour scooters, and grandmothers in helicopters, to say nothing of unlooked houses, were beyond anything in my imagination or previous experience. None the less, something compelled my feet to loiter in the downtown area. Well, sir, I would not have missed that for worlds. In 1963 they had completed the last wing of the Empress Hotel, that to the South; and there it stood, covered from roof to base with Virginia creeper and Boston ivy. Across the way, in Thunderbird Park, the province had erected a real museum: a magnificent building, with a 100-foot relief map of British Columbia in the main-suburban, and a planetarium and public observation telescopes, for stellar inquiry, on the roof. The Legislative Buildings, I saw at a glance, had spread across Superior Street, which had been closed; and public offices stretched in graceful colonnades and galleries almost as far as the eye could see.

My greatest surprise, excepting only the dress of the people, came when, exhausting these wonders, I strolled on towards the harbor front. There, as I live, was a great public square, below the embankment and enclosed by it on all four sides. On what away back in 1943 had been the sea side there was now a new breakwater and embankment, sloping in grassy terraces to the inner side of the square. Indeed, grassy slopes enclosed the whole, which was a huge amphitheatre. I noticed a bandstand in the centre, surrounded by playing fountains. There was a canal outside the fountain, winding to and from sailboats in the breakwater; and this, I could see, was overhung with gaily-colored lanterns. The square itself I judged to be many acres in extent; but on its grassy swards helicopters were landing and taking off in a bewildering succession. Many people were strolling about; the men, as it seemed to me, in colors, and the women in a plain, but serviceable uniformity.

It was at that point that I missed my footing and began falling. Well, you know how it is in a dream. You fall and fall, and then end up in precisely the place you started from. So, there I was in my chair. The dredged had fallen down on my knees. The newspaper had slipped to the floor. I picked it up. Sunday, May 9, 1943, it was dated. The item about the surrender of the Germans at Bizerte was on the front page. Peace was offered, in its interior. There was an advertisement offering to sell a 1943 car, practically unused. I was back in my own time phase. I had not escaped the consequences of having been born in the Nineteenth Century—bad as they were, and are. The world had not yet come to colors for men, helicopters for grandmothers, and houses fastened with a butterfly nut at the corners. But I do miss the planetarium. Upon my word, I do!

Observation Car

By G.B.

From a weather prophet: "There will be no settled warm spring weather until most of the snow vanishes from the majestic Olympic Mountains. There is twice as much snow on them now as there was in May last year." Aldermen do not always have the courage of their convictions. Last month they cut the car allowances of fourteen City Hall employees 25 per cent, but all amounts were restored to their former levels at a meeting on Monday, despite the fact that employees have just passed this year and are now using their cars as much. Note from an engine room airpump on his return to the city after two years ashore and at sea. "I was never so glad in my life to come back to Victoria, the beauty of its size—in Canada. At Halifax hotels, furnished and housekeeping rooms are sky high in price. There are long line-ups outside the stores, and clerks do not care whether or not they serve a customer. The winter weather was bad. No liquor sold on Saturdays, and other gay life a customer has to wait in a half-mile line outside a small kiosk to make a purchase. Halifax is a strange old-fashioned city still in the horse and buggy age."

There is apparently a way to build a house in spite of stringent government regulations, according to a visitor from Vancouver. He told us he knew of many cases in which persons secured $300 city permits for foundations and frames, then applied to the controller of construction for full permits. In the meantime they kept on building quietly and about the time their houses were completed, they were able to secure government permits to start work. Bill, the Broad Street barber, forgot his lunch yesterday and went to a small snack stand for a ham sandwich. "Did you slice this ham?" he asked the proprietor. "Of course. What about it?" the man answered. "Well, you nearly missed the ham," Bill accused.

BRITONS WELCOME NEW MEETING

LONDON, May 12 (Wednesday) (CP)—Britons, recalling the positive military actions after previous conclaves, today welcomed the new Churchill-Roosevelt meeting as a prelude to a grand attack on Axis-held Europe.

Best informed observers said that the war strategy was the prime purpose of the conference although political problems involved in the invasion plans undoubtedly were discussed, as well as co-ordination of Russian and Allied offensives.

"Soothing of the disputes between the Poles and Russians and the intramural arguments of the French were regarded as likely subjects taken into consideration, together with allotment of war supplies for the global conflict."

These significant facts were recalled.

When Mr. Churchill met President Roosevelt in Washington, June 12, 1942, British fortunes in the Middle East were at the lowest. The British Army stood at B Alamain, July 2, and the subsequent turn-around was followed by the North Africa invasion, November 8.

Churchill Visits

There was no definite indication that the Russian Premier might join the talks here, or even that he had been invited to do so.

Not was there any way of learning whether the conversations would continue long enough for the Russian leader to reach Washington in time to participate.

LIKE TO BE KEPT ADVISED

It was considered likely, in any case, that he and Chinese General

Chiang Kai-shek would be kept advised of the meeting as was the case when the British-American war leaders met at Casablanca last January.

At Casablanca, the President and Prime Minister shared plans for invading Europe, they announced, and determined to force "unconditional surrender" on the Axis. The current parley was expected to solidify their determination on that point, and at least indirectly, answer peace feelers which had been emanating from Spain.

Ever since the final rout of the Axis forces in North Africa began, speculation has been widespread about the next Allied step. Possible invasion points have been mentioned all the way from Norway down through Holland, Belgium, France, Italy and around the Mediterranean to Greece.

Several times, President Roosevelt has promised that there will be an invasion or invasions. He has spoken of them coming this year, but has omitted any reference to a specific time element. Whether it will be necessary for Allied forces to regroup themselves and obtain replacements in men and materiel after the African campaign remains to be seen.

TREMENDOUS STRENGTH BUILT IN BRITAIN

Even if they were unavailable for any immediate attempt to crack the European fortress-on-life continent, it is known that tremendous concentrations of arms and men have been built up by Britain and the United States in Britain itself.

There were signs that Mr. Churchill's trip to Washington was arranged somewhat hurriedly since, in contrast with the volume of rumors that preceded his previous journeys to North America, there was a minimum of speculation this time.

The White House did not reveal the membership of the Prime Minister's staff. Presumably if the names became known it might serve as a tip-off on the next major theatre of Allied operations.

It was assumed that Mr. Roosevelt would bring into the consultation Gen. George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff of the United States Army; Gen. H. H. Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Forces; Admiral William D. Leahy, Personal Chief of Staff to the President; and Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander-in-Chief of the Fleet.

The Churchill-Roosevelt meetings have, in the past, come in times of crisis and important decisions have resulted from them. They met first on warships in the North Atlantic in August, 1941, and promulgated the Atlantic Charter. Mr. Churchill came here the following December, immediately after the United States was drawn into the conflict, and again last June, and the original invasion of North Africa was one result of these two parleys.

The last get-together of the two top men in the English-speaking Allied nations was at Casablanca last January.

MEETING HAD BEEN EXPECTED

Earlier, with the African campaign in its last stages, speculation had developed both here and in London that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt would meet again.

When the African fighting was at its peak, there was considerable speculation here that its conclusion would be followed by Allied moves against Sicily, Sardinia and other Italian islands from which Axis planes could operate against Allied convoys in the Mediterranean.

This was based on the assumption that Sicily could not move freely in the Middle Sea until the enemy was ousted from these islands.

However, Navy Secretary Frank Knox expressed confidence today that German planes from bases on the Italian islands would not be able to halt Allied use of Mediterranean Sea routes.

"They will attempt to undoubtedly, but they won't be able to," he said at a press conference.

At the same time, he acknowledged that "possession of Sicily by the Allies obviously would be a tremendous asset."

Burglary Grocery recommends Rheem Furniture Polish. Eighty other stores.

Mr. Churchill met Stalin, August 12, 1942, and the Russian began their "Sudbush" and "Voronezh" counter-offensives the next day. The former resulted in the gravest German defeat to date.

Again on January 14, 1943, Mr. Churchill met Mr. Roosevelt at Casablanca and the two set "unconditional surrender" as the joint war aim. March 20 the Eighth Army moved against the Mareh positions while United States forces, began tentative advances which reached their height with the Tunisian victory.

AT TIME OF

Mr. Churchill's visit, aside from the practical value which high sources give it as "supreme propaganda," comes at the moment of greatest opportunity for the Allies.

Their military stock never was higher. The occupied countries are settling with revolt, which has finally broken into the open in Holland and other countries.

Gen. Francisco Franco's peace feeler Monday is viewed as a barometer of the Allied political position, observers recalling the optimistic tone of Premier Stalin's May Day order of the day.

In the light of the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting, observers are convinced that Stalin was fully informed that it was scheduled that he knew the kill was on for Tunisia, and that he had been assured the second front was not far off.

It was pointed out, however, that nearly five months were required after the June meeting to organize the attack on North Africa.

There was speculation here that the real invasion, whether on what the Prime Minister has called the vulnerable "soft underbelly of the Axis" or somewhere between Spain and the North Cape, might be preceded by a series of diversionary feints.

In Front Rank

The measure gave the Government wide powers to enter into trade agreements which might not be revealed to the House.

Sitting in committee, the House started its review of the bill clause by clause. Second reading was given the measure Monday night.

Explaining the financing arrangements under the 1942 gift of $1,000,000,000, Mr. Bailey said the Canadian assistance had been paid into the account of the United Kingdom Government in Canada, supplementing the dollar resources of the United Kingdom. The dollar thus had been placed in a common fund and it was impossible to say money taken from this fund had come from one source rather than another.

In addition to the portion of sterling area purchases attributed to the $1,000,000,000 gift, Mr. Bailey said other sources of financing had covered commodity exports valued at $219,000,000 and services' costs of $221,000,000.

Of the total, Canada knew that $61,000,000 in fighting equipment had been transferred to Russia and $71,000,000 in mechanical transport to Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the sterling area, although they were part of the gift to Britain.

In the fiscal year 1942-43, the sterling area Canadian dollar requirements were $1,908,000,000. These requirements were met only in part by the $1,000,000,000 gift. The additional amount required to meet sterling area purchases was made up by receipts from Canadian imports from the sterling area, Canadian war expenditures in the sterling area, repatriation of securities, transfer of United States dollars from Britain to Canada, purchase of munitions plants by Canada, and special transactions.

Mr. Bailey stressed the divisions made in estimating the supplies sent under the $1,000,000,000 gift were "purely arbitrary."

The minister told Hon. R. B. Hanson (Progressive Conservative, York-Sunbury) that all the money granted in the United Kingdom, plus the supplementary amount it was able to obtain, had been spent in Canada.

Ralph Maybank (Liberal, Winnipeg South Centre) said in tonight's debate there was no harm in receiving some return for gifts to the United Nations under the bill.

While he did not favor demanding cash on the barrelhead for aid to other nations, Mr. Maybank said sound business principles might well be followed in the negotiations.

According to Culbertson

The same "breaks" that usually cause loud cries of anguish sometimes can become a declarer's only salvation. For example, take those cases in which declarer "misses" seven cards of a certain suit. Usually he must hope that they are divided four-three and if the division actually turns out to be five-two he has thoroughly disgraced. Yet this same five-two break can be highly fortuitous in other circumstances.

Incidentally, declarer's early play of the diamond ace had been quite correct, although not necessary in this case. As a guard against the possibility that West might have held the diamond king or queen with only one guard, in which case he would have been able to discard the honor on the run of spades, and thereby permit East, if he held Q-10, or K-10 in diamonds, to win two tricks in the suit.

It had been argued that if Canada were not in debt to the United Kingdom during the war it would be more difficult to sell Canadian goods to her. But British trading with Canada might be encouraged by Canadian buying from the United Kingdom.

He would support the bill even if there were no intention of taking back any Canadian securities in the United Kingdom. But large numbers of Western Canadian residents were "not fooled" by the argument that it was patriotic to have Canadian securities in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Maybank said there appeared to have been a few cases, when information was arbitrarily refused the House.

The refusal of information about Prices Board officials liable to military service was not flattering to the intelligence of House members. But he did not think the cases of refusal had been important. He had confidence in the Government on major issues, but felt ministers "kidded the House along" on smaller matters.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (Progressive Conservative, York-Sunbury) said he had been uneasy over powers granted the Government in the bill in respect to agreements which might be entered into without reference to the House. The application of bill should be restricted to the war alone and not cover agreements which might persist after the war.

concentrate on German railway targets, especially on the Brunsen-Orel rail-line, and the Germans in turn bomb behind the Russian lines. In the direction of Novgorodsk the Red Army is slowly gaining ground through toughly defended fortifications. Apparently the Nazis are drawing on their reserves in an effort to hold the naval base.

Indo-British forces in Burma, forced to withdraw from Buthidaung, have had a costly experience, says The Times correspondent at British Headquarters in India. Men have died and suffered in the decimation of swamps and forests that led nowhere, once Ayahs ceased to be an objective. Malaria and the monsoon took a heavy toll.

Broadly speaking, the lesson of the campaign is that Indians and United Kingdom troops have still to learn much from the Japanese about jungle fighting. The Japanese, however, have lost more men, and the sickness rate has been at least as high.

Government House Is Scene of State Dinner

At the state dinner held last night at Government House, H.R.H. Princess Alice was beautiful and stately in a gown of deep blue tulle, adorned with sequins. The skirt was fashioned on full lines and over the sequin-encrusted bodice she wore a jacket. Her jewelry was diamonds, a necklace, barettes and a brooch.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward was graciously lovely in white, silver brocade with diamonds and pearl trimming. With this she wore "diamond earrings and a string of pearls. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. P. A. Woodward, a guest at the function from Vancouver, was handsome in a black chiffon and lace gown.

The dinner table, with place cards for forty guests, was artistically decorated with four silver bowls of pastel-shaded flowers. Included in the scheme were white and pink carnations, pink tulips, blue iris, white narcissi, and white bridal wreath. White candles cast a soft glow over the table. The centre candelabra contained five and four other candelabra contained three.

In aid of the war work of the league was held at the home of the former on Roslyn Road, Oak Bay, Mrs. Fitzsimmons presided at the tea table which was charmingly arranged with a centerpiece of tulips, narcissi and bluebells.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.P.E., leaves Victoria tomorrow for Seattle, having been invited by the Washington State Federation, Business and Professional Women's Clubs to be a guest at their annual state convention on May 14 and 15. Mrs. Hodges has been asked to convey greetings from the Victoria Branch at the open air rally in Victoria Square on Friday at noon, and to speak at the war workers' luncheon at the Hotel Colman on Saturday at noon.

Guests staying at the Shewanian Beach Hotel include: Dr. and Mrs. T. Torland, from Washington; Mr. George Dowdson, Sr., Mr. George Dowdson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Cornell, from Vancouver; Mr. T. H. Searle, Miss D. M. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. P. L. James, Miss Rosemary James, the Misses Humphreys, Miss Dunsen, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, Miss Joan Forrest, Miss Aileen Leigh, Mr. A. Bernard, Mr. Joseph Rose, Lieut. T. Savignac and Lieut. C. W. King, all of Victoria.

Guests who registered yesterday at the Empress Hotel include American Consul-General and Mrs. Paul Josephine Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welch, Winnipeg; Mrs. P. A. Woodward, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Powell, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Barrett, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Leavelle-Jones, Vancouver; Mrs. A. Y. Wilson, Miss Mary E. Wilson, Vancouver; Mrs. J. McDonald, Vancouver; Mrs. L. B. Stevens, Vancouver; Mrs. G. A. Cavers, Vancouver; J. L. Arden, Edmonton.

Miss Eileen Hendry, a bride-elect of the week, was surprised and honored recently when her aunts, who live in Vancouver, held a novel shower for her by mail. A large box arrived for the bride by postal express, and was found to contain lovely gifts of linen in individual gift wrappings. Those taking part in the unique shower were Mrs. J. Scott, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. R. O. Ball, Mrs. Irm Weatherup, Mrs. H. Stamatia, Mrs. F. Day, Mrs. Herbert Ball, Mrs. Douglas McCallan, Miss Ada McLaughlin and her cousins, Patricia Stamatia and Roy Weatherup.

Mrs. Gordon Bowes and Miss Brenda Stamatia, members of the Outdoor Club, have returned to Victoria from Vancouver after climbing the western peak of the Lions, with the Vancouver section of the Lions Club.

The first night was spent at St. Marks camp, which was reached by the Horseshoe Bay bus and by motor launch up Howe Sound. The enthusiastic began the ascent at an early hour taking thirteen hours to complete the climb. The effort of scaling the final rocky rock tower was rewarded by a most impressive view of the Vancouver Island mountains, Garibaldi Mountain, the Black Tusk, Golden Ears, and many others. Capilano Canyon spreading below and the city of Vancouver in the distance completed the panorama.

A delightful tea was held recently at the home of Mrs. M. Marsh, Medina Street, when members of the Qu Alex Girls' Club entertained their mothers. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. M. Williams, and Mrs. Marsh, also Mrs. M. Stephen, president of the W.B.A. Review, about twenty-five guests being present. Tall blue tapers in crystal holders lighted an artistic arrangement of chrysanthemums and stocks in shades of pink, which were reflected in the oblong mirror centering the table. Mrs. C. Veaman and Mrs. M. Allister poured tea while Mrs. C. Payne, Mrs. L. Morrison, Miss E. Malcolin and Miss Helen Atack assisted in serving. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Williams presented the hostess with a gift in appreciation of her kindness.

Officers Installed By Zeta Chapter

The installation of new officers for Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held at the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening. The following took the oath of office: President, Miss Barbara Dawson; vice-president, Miss Frances Law; recording secretary, Miss Vera Waller; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Searle and treasurer, Miss Joyce Finch. Mrs. T. H. Johns was presented with a pledge pin, symbol of sponsorship. The following committee conveners were appointed by the executive: Programme, Mrs. Janet Wilson; historian, Mrs. J. Leavis; social, Miss Catherine Cameron; war services, Miss E. Hamilton; finance, Mrs. E. Brown; war saving, Miss Gladys Robertson; contests, Miss M. George; absences, Mrs. J. Goggin; publicity, Miss H. Porter; torch reporter, Miss J. Wilson; pianist, Miss L. Wardman.

Miss Barbara Dawson conducted the business period during which tentative plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in the near future. Members were reminded to turn in their contributions for the baby shower, articles for which will be turned over to the Children's Aid. An interesting letter was read from Corporal Joyce Dickson, a sorority sister now with the air force at Lethbridge, and one from Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, wife of the retired United States Consul and a former sponsor of Zeta Chapter.

It was announced that twenty-five packs of playing cards have been sent to the boys overseas. Miss Muriel Knight, war service convenor, presented Miss Barbara Dawson with her seventy-hour war service pin from Beta Sigma Phi. Two sorority sisters were guests for the evening, Mrs. R. Cantwell, from Brandon, Man., and Miss C. Muir, of Gamma Chapter, Edmonton, Alta.

The cultural programme, conducted by Mrs. T. H. Johns, proved to be a highlight of the year. Mrs. Johns' topic was "The Good," and was presented in a unique impressive manner. She expressed "The

Her Excellency Posed in Gardens of Government House

Photographed in the gardens of Government House yesterday morning after her inspections of various war service canteens operated in Victoria. Her Excellency wore a wool lace navy blue two-piece suit, with white blouse, ruffled collar, and gardenia caught with a living corps pin. Her envelope purse was navy blue and white, and she wore sapphire earrings and a strand of pearls. On her navy blue straw hat, with up-turned brim, were poised white wings.

"Good," which has been done by outstanding characters chosen from the realm of philosophers, orators, writers, poets, painters, social reformers, explorers and leaders. Wherever possible Mrs. Johns had each group speak for itself through quotations and illustrations. For the latter, Mrs. Johns used pictures which she obtained while visiting the art galleries of France. In her own inimitable way Mrs. Johns mentioned outstanding events in the lives of the men and women who have contributed to "The Good" through the ages and left her listeners with a wealth of thought-provoking material.

Committee conveners were asked to have annual reports completed and turned in at the next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, May 25, at the home of Mrs. T. H. Johns, 2753 Somerset Drive.

Statistics Reveal Splendid Work of V.O.N. in Canada

Interesting figures from the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada, held in Toronto recently, were read at the board meeting of the local V.O.N. yesterday morning. Mrs. Peter O. Barr, president in the absence of Mrs. R. B. Horton. These figures revealed a total of 700,000 visits made throughout the Dominion to 88,646 patients during the past year. There were 65,953 visits made to 10,218 families with a member in the armed forces. During 1942 thirty-six branches gave a school nursing service. Fifty-three branches conducted child hygiene centres, thirty branches gave assistance with immunization clinics. With eight new branches formed during the year the total stands at ninety-nine branches, with 387 graduate nurses employed.

Miss A. Creason, supervisor, stated that calls made by the nurses of the Victorian Order locally during April totaled 1,158. Other figures, quoted by Miss Creason, included 279 calls to mothers and babies, twenty-one to pneumonia cases, 238 to communicable disease patients, nine to cancer patients, 254 to chronic cases, 199 others and 147 instructive visits made. Eight "well-baby" clinics were held with a total attendance of 196. Miss Creason spoke of her attendance at the conference of social service workers, held with Miss Grayson, assistant professor of sociology at the University of British Columbia, also of attending the five-day refresher course held by the Provincial Department of Health, and she spoke of the National Nurses' Week being held as a nursing campaign. The supervisor also announced the child health centre in Esquimalt is to be opened before the end of May. Miss Creason of the Victoria staff had attended the provincial health conference in Vancouver, Miss Creason stated.

Following the business, Mrs. H. Horne, of the National War Finance Committee, spoke briefly, stressing the fact that the responsibility of keeping national economy on an even keel rests with the women of the Dominion.

Airwomen Are Inspected by Her Excellency

H.R.H. Princess Alice yesterday afternoon inspected two flights of airwomen of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) at Kildonan House, Poul Bay Road. As soon as the provincial parade was over, Her Excellency inspected the airwomen's quarters, and later tea was served by the women's division.

Her Excellency who wore her air force uniform, was accompanied by Miss Vera Grenfell, lady-in-waiting, and Group Capt. McGregor, O.B.E., D.F.C.

Section Officer S. Hutchings was in charge of the inspection, assisted by A.S.O. E. A. McLaren, A.S.O. Diana Lyon, and A.S.O. Valerie Robinson.

High School Girls Addressed by Nurses

In conjunction with Nurses' Week sponsored by the Canadian Nurses' Association, the pupils of Oak Bay and Esquimalt High Schools, were addressed yesterday by a graduate nurse and two student nurses on the staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, Miss L. Anderson, R.N., Miss M. MacBean and Miss M. Adams.

Discussing the thorough preparation and training required by a nurse, Miss Adams stressed the importance of the nursing profession. Miss M. MacBean spoke on the growing need of nurses in Canada. With the increased demands of the services the shipyards and factories engaged in war production it is she said imperative that Canada have sufficient nurses.

Graduate nurse Miss Anderson answered questions about the training and requirements of a student nurse.

Rev. M. Coleman Tells "Experiences in London"

"The story of the Blitz," said Rev. Michael Coleman in the course of a masterly address before members of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel, "one doesn't want to talk about it too much."

The subject of his address was "Experiences in London," and he delved into ancient history—the very beginning of London—for his opening remarks, but it was, nevertheless, the story of the blitz that held the audience spellbound. Quietly with utter lack of passion but with earnest conviction that was far more moving than flights of eloquence, Mr. Coleman told of those days he spent in his own parish in London during the Battle of Britain.

"There were twelve raids a day, with no let-up. It was quite a job to maintain in one's brain. Every day to me is a memorial day! I shut my eyes and see things happening," he said.

He told of September 7, the beginning of the blitz. "At 6:15 planes dropped fire bombs. For three days and nights without ceasing this went on. People from the suburbs thought the whole of London was burning. He told of holding service after having seen 300 burned to death. "For the first thirty-three days there was no let-up."

There were said Mr. Coleman, three essentials that sustained the people through the Battle of Britain: "History, knowledge of God and humor," and he continued, "the church has played a most significant part. It has been a tremendous opportunity for making friends." He recalled the families crowded together in underground shelters for months at a time. "At 6 p.m. the weary pilgrimage of men and women and children would begin," and he explained how the families would find their own corners in the shelter, with a canteen in the center. From 7:30 to 11 there would be entertainment because, he said, "you could hear the planes, the guns, and with nothing to do but wait, expecting something to fall on you," entertainment was necessary.

BRINGS FAMILY WORSHIP BACK
The war "has brought the family closer," the speaker pointed out, "children do not want to leave their parents and family worship is coming back again."

Because the story lies so close to the speaker's heart, Mr. Coleman makes his word pictures vivid so his listeners. But he, like the British whom he extols for their humor, brings wit and amusing anecdote to his recollections. "Since the history of London is a chronicle, he knows well he relates it with restraint, and a fond affection favors his utterances."

The speaker, passed through the times of Queen Victoria, and her bells of London that melted in the blue sea—that the metal ran far sooner than the time could consume the stout oak beam from which the bells were suspended back through the days of Edward—the Black Prince, and the Wicked Vicar of All Hallows ("my parish," Mr. Coleman called it through the era, always "my parish"), back through the times of the Danes, and their pagan ideas which were successfully defeated by the "grand old hardy Scots" who kept the light of Christianity burning back to the advent of Christianity and the landing of Julius Caesar at Puddle Dock. Whimsically the speaker linked this early phase of history and the famous Roman wall with 1940, for he told his listeners

LEADERS' COUNCIL
The meeting of the Victoria Leaders' Council was held recently at the Oriental Hotel. The meeting was opened with the devotional service, "Go-Workers With God," given by Miss Lillian Perfit. Mr. A. Hall then continued with the Bible study course on "Paul, the Triumphant." During the business period, the president, Mrs. Helen Fulton, was in the chair. It was moved that $50 be sent to Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek for her war orphans fund. The camp committee reported that definite plans will be made after their representative has met with the new Farm Labor Board. At the close of the meeting, light refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held June 2.

A teacher was impressing upon her class the fact that you cannot subtract one thing from others unless they are of the same denomination. "For instance," she said, "we cannot take two apples from three oranges."

Serving With Savings

These figures will help you to understand why Mr. Ilsley is asking unprecedented savings by all the people of Canada this year. In addition to the higher income tax deductions which went into effect April 1, Finance Minister Ilsley asks Canada's eleven million five hundred thousand men, women and children to invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Stamps to the amount of $250 per person.

The Government's over-all outlays for 1943-1944 amount to $5,500,000,000, or an average of $478 from every man, woman and child in Canada. Just over half of this amount ($250) is expected to come from the public in the form of investments through Victory Loans and War Savings Certificates.

Many are sacrificing their lives in our war against the plunder armies of the Axis. All we are asked to do is to sacrifice a few of our unnecessary pleasures and comforts and invest those savings in a profitable form of financial security for the future.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S WASHINGTON

Victoria's Canadian basketball champions arrived home on yesterday afternoon's steamer and were met at the dock by Mayor McGavin, Norm Baker, scoring star of the series with Windsor, was holding the Montreal Sportsman's Cup when the team posed for the cameramen and why shouldn't he, his bag of seventy-two points in the three games highlighted the play-offs.

Senior softball teams were forced into idle time last night when old Sage Flavel stepped into the breach and took charge of the diamond.

You auto racing fans will remember Lou McMurry, who thrilled hundreds at the Langford track before it folded due to the war by his daredevil driving which brought him many victories. Well, Lou has been given the checkered flag for the last time, according to word reaching this sports department from across the border. He lost his last decision to the Grim Reaper during a race in Oregon and I know that Victorians will be sorry to hear that news for McMurry was a popular hero.

Another race driver, Alvin Heath, who competed at Langford a few times, also has circled the straits for the last time, being a victim of a crash-up on one of the Coast tracks.

Pitcher Lynn, of Los Angeles, pitched his sixth straight victory yesterday and Emil Sick's club felt the sting of his masterful hurling to the tune of a 13-0 shutout. If Hal Turpin can't stop the flight of the Angels, it's a foregone conclusion that the rest of the mound crowd hasn't much of a chance.

FROM HERE AND THERE

The weatherman is playing pranks with sport officials in Vancouver just as he has been doing here for some time. Matchmaker Sid Beech has postponed tonight's scheduled championship fight between Dubs and Wadsworth until Friday evening, and is taking no chances so has moved the show indoors.

On the same night Bob Parker, local scouter, will swap blows with Jackie Turner, in what should turn out to be an interesting battle from the first clasp of the gloves.

Seattle Rainiers will have their hands full this week as they take on the league-leading Los Angeles club. Bill Skiff will have to pull a lot of tricks out of the bag to turn back the Angels for they are setting a fast pace, and if they keep pulling away from the field they will be just as hard to overtake as a flock of Count Fleets.

Ray Casey, who guards the "hot corner" for the Army ball club, is leading the local circuit in two departments already, stolen bases and home runs.

Do you know that Clem Loughlin, captain of the Victoria Cougars when they won the Stanley Cup back in 1925, ended a twenty-year hockey career six years ago this week when he resigned as manager of the Chicago Black Hawks?

The veteran Canadian player-manager had a busy life in hockey, but retired to devote his whole time to his wheat farm and hotel in Viking, Alta.

The most spectacular shot played in the first rounds of the championship at George Vale Golf Club last Sunday came from the bag of Eph Robinson on the sixteenth.

He dubbed his tee shot into the rough, had to chip out to the seventeenth fairway and then the defending champion gambled with a spoon and went for the green over the tall trees. His ball came to rest twenty feet from the pin. It was a 100 to 1 bet that he would clear the trees, but he gambled and won.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when "Lefty" Grove, then with Baltimore in the International League, set Toronto Maple Leafs down with three hits and blanked them 1-0 at Toronto? That was twenty-one years ago today. Three years later (1925) Lefty went to Philadelphia Athletics for a reported price of $100,000 and in 1934 he was traded to the Boston Red Sox.

Also remember when George Lyon, "grand old man" of Canadian golf, died five years ago yesterday at the age of seventy-nine? Thirty-four years previously when golf was in its infancy in Canada, Lyon gained international honors at the St. Louis world's fair. He was eight times Canadian amateur champion, won the North American senior title four times.

At Barrhead, Alta., Walter Schmitt, twenty-four, smacked out a long homer over the centrefield fence and then after circling he collapsed and died in the dugout.

Hand runners are starting to float around already. It was whispered around through the grapevine that the three Bentley brothers from the Chicago Black Hawks will enlist in the navy and be stationed to Victoria when the next campaign gets under way.

In 1898 a horse named Buddist, a 1 to 30 shot, won the Preskness and the full purse was only $1,130. No shorter favorite has ever won this event.

Last week the Fleet won in a breeze and collected something like $44,000.

Jack Stewart, young defense star of the Detroit Red Wings, Stanley Cup champions, has joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and will be doing his storking for an air squad next season.

Paul Wanner, that once notable hitter now with the Brooklyn Dodgers, is obliged to wear glasses in whatever games Durocher uses him in. They must be helping the veteran out as he collected four out of five the other day.

Championship Go Set for Friday

Dubs-Wadsworth Fight Is Set Back And Will Be Staged Indoors

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP)—The Canadian middleweight title fight between Champion Len Wadsworth, of Sudbury, Ont., and Seaman Harvey Dubs, of the Royal Canadian Navy, has been set back from tomorrow night until Friday night, the Victory Loan sports committee announced today.

Deciding the nights were still too chilly for outdoor fights, the committee also arranged to shift the bout from Athletic Park outdoors to the Exhibition Gardens.

Seaman Harvey Dubs is taking his training instructions from the King's Mail. It may not be the orthodox method, but the Royal Canadian Navy batter seems to be thriving on it.

Art Mansfield, also with the R.C.N., is tied up with training duties of a more serious nature in Eastern Canada, but finds time to put down on paper the step-by-step plan for both his fighter's training and the actual bout, a twelve-round affair sponsored by the Vancouver Victory Loan committee.

Since the twenty-year-old seaman arrived here early last week, Mansfield has been writing him daily, mapping the training and battle plans.

"He's one of the smartest men that was ever in the business," Dubs says. "He taught me everything I know and when he tells me, even in a letter, what to do, I know I had better do it or heaven help me."

He has adhered to instructions and is confident he will return to his naval duties as champion. In gymnasium workouts he has shown great speed and neat footwork but appears to lack the punching power of the champion.

Wadsworth, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., and now a policeman in a Sudbury, Ont., mine, arrived in town with his manager, Maurice Fogman, during the week-end. Wadsworth confined himself to a light workout Sunday and Monday and expects to enter the ring at about 160 pounds, nine more than the challenger.

Wadsworth's last title defence was staged at Montreal, April 7, when he scored a knockout over Al Evans.

Flyers Are Back Home

Reception for Hoop Champions

"Nice going, fellows! You are a credit to the Royal Canadian Air Force." With those words, Air Vice-Marshal L. P. Stevenson, A.O.C., Western Air Command, yesterday welcomed home members of the Victoria R.C.A.F. basketball team, newly-crowned Canadian champions.

Flyers certainly looked a happy bunch as they stepped off the afternoon boat from Vancouver. Leading the players and carrying the coveted Sportsman's Trophy, symbols of the Canadian title, was Norm Baker.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, on behalf of the citizens, greeted the players on their arrival and complimented them on their accomplishment. Others on hand to meet the champions were Aldermen Duncan McTavish and W. H. "Billy" Davies; F. L. Lile, C. G. Higman, sports officer, Royal Canadian Air Force, and relatives and friends of the Victoria players.

Sergeant Piper Mona Mayhew, of the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, and a niece of R. W. Mayhew, M.P., piped the party off the boat.

Alderman Duncan McTavish announced yesterday that plans have been made for the entertainment of the members of the R.C.A.F. basketball team by the City of Victoria in recognition of their winning the Canadian title. The function will be held on Thursday, May 20, when a presentation will be made to each of the players, their trainer and coach.

SINKS HIS TEE SHOT

One of the youngest members of the Victoria Golf Club, Gordon Dods, thirteen, dropped his tee shot for a hole-in-one yesterday at the course. The youngster has only been playing for a year, and is a student at the Oak Bay High School.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . By Ripley

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

Downing Street Was Named After an American—Sir George Downing, 1623-1684, of Salem, Mass., the Yankee after whom London's famous Downing Street is named, was an honor man of the first class class of our country (Harvard 1642). He was the original "Yankee Doodle" who went to London and became one of its richest men, under Cromwell and Charles II. His greatest title to fame is that he was the author of what turned out to be the most astounding swag in history. As English Ambassador to the Netherlands, he induced the hard-headed Dutch to swap the city of New Amsterdam (New York) for Surinam, Dutch Guiana, by the terms of the second Treaty of Westminster, 1674.

May Secure Third Club

Lacrosse Prospects Are Much Brighter

With two senior clubs assured and prospects of a third team from the services, delegates attending last night's lacrosse meeting at the British Public Schools Club decided to postpone the entry deadline for one week.

Royal Canadian Air Force and Victoria Dodgers, the latter a local civilian club, are reported just about ready to open the local box wars. Workouts have been held, and with the league opening expected in two weeks officials of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association are hoping to get a third senior squad.

Jokers, last season's provincial juvenile "A" champions, Douglas Tira, Owl Drug and James Bay have minor league teams ready for action, and reports have it that two additional clubs are being organized.

Stevenson Memorial Park will be the home ground for all important fixtures, Doug Fletcher, secretary, announced last night. Plans to have the box properly set up and bleachers erected are being considered.

Soccer Standings

Sports Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—So Phil Eddie Thompson is "missing in action" at sea. That's tough! Maybe Jim Coleman, of The Toronto Globe and Mail, put it best when he wrote:

"It is invidious to refer to individuals in their days when the finest flower of our manhood is being cut down on foreign fields, but Eddie exemplified all the finest things in a young man, and he was the kind of fellow whom any parents would have been proud to call their 'son,' and any man would have been proud to call him 'brother.'"

Eddie was a Toronto boy. But he belonged to all Canada because he was one of those athletically gifted young men whose names appear prominently on the sports pages.

Eddie ranked with Canada's greatest football players. He was a captain of champions, captain of the mighty Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes who won the Canadian championship and the Grey Cup last autumn. Above all he was a sportsman; he was, in the words of his coach, Lew Hayman, "gentleman competitor."

ONE OF CANADA'S BEST ATHLETES

Yes, Eddie was an all-star. At twenty-six he had been recognized for five years as one of Canada's greatest running halfbacks. A track star, he had speed to burn.

A product of Toronto's Oakwood Collegiate, Eddie started at football at University of Toronto. In 1938, with Toronto Balmy Beach he was chosen for The Canadian Press all-star O.R.F.U. team. He repeated in 1939 and that year was the only O.R.F.U. player selected for C.P.'s all-Eastern team.

With Camp Borden in 1940, Eddie again was chosen O.R.F.U. all-star and was named to the all-Eastern second team. There was no all-Eastern last year but Eddie was an Ontario-Union all-star.

J. P. Fitzgerald, of The Toronto Telegram, writes of Eddie: "Neither Canada nor any other country can lose boys like this without a real feeling of sacrifice."

KINGSTON IN BAD SHAPE

KINGSTON, Ont., May 11 (CP)—George Patterson, veteran of seventeen years' professional hockey, is in serious condition in hospital here. Doctors have not yet diagnosed the cause of his strange ailment. Patterson collected fifty scoring points last winter and finished the season with Indianapolis in the finals, transferring to them from New Haven in mid-season.

Senior Softball Fixture Canceled

With the ground unfit for play, last night's senior softball game between the Army and Royal Canadian Air Force clubs was canceled.

Thursday evening Royal Canadian Navy and Victoria Machinery Depot "big apple" squads are scheduled to meet at the Caledonia Avenue ball yard at 6:45 o'clock.

K.V.'s and Pitchers' Men's Shop "C" section teams will meet at Central Park this evening at 6:45 o'clock.

HOCKEY TEAM HONORED

WINNIPEG, May 11 (CP)—More than 250 persons attended a civic banquet tonight in honor of Winnipeg Rangers, Dominion Junior Hockey champions, at which trophies and awards were presented.

Mayor Garnet Coulter, on behalf of the city, gave each of the players who helped down Oshawa Generals in the Memorial Cup series, a ring.

A. E. R. Coo presented the players with wrist watches from the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association and W. R. (Toxy) Benzmith, of Portage la Prairie, Man., gave them gold medals from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Premier Stuart A. Garson, of Manitoba, congratulated the team on its victory.

In town, Coast Hardware has "Sheen" Furniture Polish. Rightly other stores.

Daily Double Pays $1,045.80 to Two Ticket Holders

CHARLESTOWN, W.Va., May 11 (AP)—Two holders of tickets on the daily double combination of L. T. Davis' Night Scot and V. S. McClintock's Sunny Del collected $1,045.80 each at the Charlestown race track today.

Only two tickets were sold on the winning combination. Night Scot paid $71.88 to win and backers of Sunny Del in the second race collected $89 for each $2 win ticket. A parlay on the two would have paid $2,154.

The second of the programmes for the National War Fund, and State Charities drew a small crowd, but the betting was brisk.

Top Berth in Pennant Race Is at Stake

V.M.D. and Flyers Will Play Tonight

Only undefeated clubs in the 1943 local pennant chase, Victoria Machinery Depot, defending champions, and Royal Canadian Air Force, will battle it out tonight for undisputed occupation of top berth. Game time will be 6:15 o'clock, with Royal Athletic Park, the scene of acrobatics.

Shipyard workers opened defence of the McGavin and Rithet Cups with an 8-6 victory over the Royal Canadian Navy, while the Flyers defeated the Army, 14-9.

Laurel Harnsey, back-stopping ace and coach of the champions, has not announced his starting hurler, but in all probability will use "Canonball" Dixon, the latest addition to the V.M.D. pitching staff. Harnsey will be back of home plate.

Forester, keystone sacker and playing coach of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who signalled his Victoria debut by lifting the ball out of the park last Saturday, figures to send Peters to the hill against the shipyard workers.

Tonight's winner will step out in front in the flag race, and the loser will drop into second place along with the Royal Canadian Navy ball-losers.

Airmen Capture Cricket Match

Opening cricket match of the season was played on the University School ground with the students facing a strong Royal Air Force eleven. The youngsters did well to score 63 against the Old Country team, which piled up 92 runs for the loss of only one wicket. The four R.A.F. batsmen all posted double figures.

Harder Is Out For Long Time

CLEVELAND, May 11 (AP)—Mel Harder, dean of Cleveland Indians pitching staff, fractured a right ankle bone in last Saturday's game at St. Louis, the team's physician said today. Dr. E. B. Castle declared the injury probably would keep the veteran right-hander out of the lineup for two months.

The pitcher was injured as he slid into base in the game he lost 2-2 to the Browns.

Seattle Badly Treated by League Leaders—Major Teams Are Idle

By The Associated Press

Oakland's Coast Leaguers yesterday defeated San Diego Padres, 5-4, in the opening game of the week's baseball series between the two teams. San Diego's outburst Oakland thirteen to six, but their blows were scattered.

Los Angeles' high-riding Angels won their twelfth straight league game, hammering three Seattle pitchers for sixteen hits in a 13-0 rout. The Rainiers were held to three safe blows.

Jack Wilson defeated Bob Joyce in a pitching duel to give Portland the first game of a series against San Francisco Seals, 1-0. Wilson, who formerly hurled for Boston Red Sox, yielded six hits while Joyce gave only four.

Aided by eight-hit pitching of young Eddie Egan and a three-run homer by Roy Youngers in the eighth inning, Hollywood defeated Sacramento, 8-3, in the opening game of their league series.

TRADE RUMORS NOT HEARD OF

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—If there has been any stampede among National League clubs to make a trade for Lou Novikoff, the holdout Chicago clown, then James Gallagher, the general manager of the Cubs, must be a sound sleeper. He says he hasn't heard anybody knocking at his door.

Gallagher, a truculent Irishman and former sports writer who is called "Laughing Jim" by the scribes (an example of purist writers who is scornful of the whole affair).

"I haven't had an offer for Novikoff since last December," he declared. "Who would give us anything even if they could? Why, the Cubs haven't got a good ball player in a trade since Cuyler and Hornsby—well, maybe Derringer, but he hasn't proved himself yet."

"We're in seventh place, but nobody would help the Cubs. I found out long ago that the only way we can improve our ball club is to build it up ourselves."

"I'm not making this trip looking for trades, and up till now nobody has said anything to me about one."

Manager Jimmy Wilson, the Cubs' pilot, said last night, however, that he had received feelers from New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies, and would be to trade Novikoff, who batted .300 last year, if he could get a right-handed hitting outfielder.

Brooklyn Dodgers also are believed interested in the "Mad Russian." It was they who proposed the deal that Gallagher rejected during the Winter.

Gallagher said all he knew about Wilson's reported offers was what he had read in the papers.

In Long Beach, Cal., today, Novikoff said he would welcome a

By Jack Sords

WEST POINT, May 11 (AP)—Col Arthur W. Meehan, one of the United States Army's greatest football players on one of its greatest teams, was reported by the Army today to be missing after a night bombing mission in the Southwest Pacific in November.

He played quarterback for West Point in 1925 and 1926, but in 1927 hit his stride when his teammates included Chris Cagle, Bud Sprague, Harry Wilson and Blenny Saunders.

Col. J. H. McMullin Former Chief of B.C. Police, Passes

Colonel John Hugh McMullin, former commissioner of the British Columbia Provincial Police, died suddenly early yesterday at his home, 37 Beach Drive. He was in his seventy-fifth year and had been in good health up to a day or two ago.

When he retired in 1938, high Provincial Police in 1938, high

LATE COL. J. H. McMULLIN

Tribute was paid Col. McMullin for the service he had rendered the province in building up the force. Under him it was remodeled, put into uniform and had established a reputation as one of Canada's outstanding group of law officers.

Funeral services will be held on Friday, leaving Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:45 p.m. for St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, where service will be conducted by Ven. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Noons at 2 o'clock. Cremation will take place at Royal Oak.

Col. McMullin was born in Madras, India, the son of the late Col. John McMullin, India Army, and was sent to school in England. Leaving the East Indian Company's College at Hajipur, he was commissioned to the East Surrey, transferring after three years to the 3rd Hussars, a unit with which he stayed until 1903.

IS AWARDED QUEEN'S SOUTH AFRICAN MEDAL

After some years, Col. McMullin retired and came to Okanagan Lake, remaining there until 1909, when he joined Strathcona's Horse to fight in the South African War. He saw service in Cape Colony, Orange Free State, Natal and Transvaal, and was awarded the Queen's South African Medal with four clasps.

On his return to Canada, Col. McMullin joined the Provincial Police, later accepting the post of Government agent at Fernie. In 1909 he returned to the Provincial Police as inspector and covered the major part of British Columbia in that capacity. He left the force in 1910 to take the post of Government agent at Prince Rupert.

On his return from South Africa he retained his interest in military affairs and held the rank of lieutenant and later captain with the Kootenai Rifles before becoming a major in the 68th Militia Regiment. During the First Great War he was appointed superintendent of recruiting in the northern part of the province. Following the war he was given command of the North British Columbia Regiment, a battalion of the old 102nd, C.E.F.

WAS HEAD OF POLICE FOR TWENTY YEARS

Col. McMullin had been in charge of the Provincial Police approximately twenty years when he retired in 1938. He introduced the divisional system of territorial supervision and generally welded the police force into a unit which commanded the respect and approval of the public generally. Besides directing the re-equipment of the force, he controlled the development of its highly mechanized departments, including radio, launch and motor patrols.

Colonel McMullin is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. G. Ellis, one son, J. P. McMullin, and one sister, Miss Mary McMullin, all of Victoria.

Announce Winners Of Store Prizes

Kresge's at Douglas and Fort Streets, The Post Office News and Lunch at 902 Government, and B. M. Clarke Ltd., 711 Yates Street, are winners of the three prizes of $50 Fourth Victory Loan Bonds presented by the Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. for the three retail stores in Greater Victoria making the best showing with Victory Loan windows.

Results of the contest from which the large department stores were barred was announced Tuesday by the three judges: A. M. Stewart, of the Paint Supply Co.; H. Rahlston, of the B.C. Electric Railway; and R. H. Plute, of the Hudson's Bay Company.

For the purposes of judging the displays fairly, the judges said the stores were divided into three classes as to size and prizes awarded on that basis. Kresge's won honors for the larger stores, B. M. Clarke Ltd. for the medium and the Post Office News for the smaller establishments.

"We believe," the judges said, "that all contestants will feel that they have been judged fairly as they were all judged according to their respective classification and small stores especially would feel that if they failed to win the prize, at least they did not lose it by having to compete against a larger store with had more material at its disposal."

Blamed by the judges for honorable mention for excellent themes were the following stores:

Cunningham Drug Store, corner of Yates and Douglas Streets; Mallick's Limited, 1212 Douglas Street; Hickman Tye Hardware, 1211 Quadra Street; P. E. George Music Store, 719 Pandora Avenue; Blue Window Library & Gift Shoppe, 1607 Douglas Street; Lee's Confectionery, Union Building, View Street; Marionette Library, 1018 Douglas Street.

NEW SCHOOL PLANNED

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., May 11 (CP)—A new school may be built in the east end of this city where school accommodation is not capable of meeting demands resulting from increased industrial population. Recommendation along this line has been sent to Ottawa by D. F. Johnston local administrator of Wartime Housing.

Little Hope for Ten-Hour Shifts

SEATTLE, May 11 (AP)—A proposal for ten-hour shifts in shipyards seems doomed here today after conference of representatives of management and labor with a War Production Board fact-finding committee.

Opposition of the nebulous proposal, followed in British war industries and reported in use in some Texas shipyards, was almost unanimous at meetings yesterday. Paul R. Porter, of Washington, D.C., chairman of the W.P.B. committee, said Porter explained that the group came West to find what the industry and labor thought about the possibilities of the ten-hour shift. He said the committee, which is to hold further conferences at Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, had just about agreed that any longer shift policy can be considered only on a coastwide basis. "Since the shipyard workers form a highly-paid group on the Coast," Porter said, "it is also probable that if the longer shift were adopted, other war industries might also have to adopt it. In view of all this and of the fact that people here feel it would not be an efficient system in the long run, there seems small chance that the shift system will be changed."

Increase Service

Due to increasing passenger traffic on the Prince Rupert-Jasper line of the Canadian National Railways, important changes in train service will be made Sunday, May 16, according to C. F. Earle, district passenger agent, C.N.R., Victoria. A daily-except-Sunday regular passenger train, fully equipped, will be operated in both directions on and after May 16, convenient connections with main line trains being made at Jasper. Passengers from the Pacific Coast will leave Vancouver daily, except Saturday, to make connections. For some time the service has been in operation only five days a week.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., May 11 (CP)—Customs and excise revenue at Prince Rupert to date for 1943 totals $234,773 compared with $143,583 for the first four months of 1942. Revenue for April amounted to $51,274 compared with $23,925 for April last year.

Call up the reserves!

The attack must not fail

AS THE CLIMAX of a battle approaches, it is often necessary to "call up the reserves."

Fresh troops, extra support, renewed effort, are needed to clinch the victory.

Such a moment as this has arrived in Canada's 4th Victory Loan Campaign. There are only three more days in which to go "over the top."

The bugle is calling up those "reserve dollars." They are needed to make victory sure.

Are YOU confident you've done ALL you can? Or are you holding something in "reserve"?

The reserves are needed now. The bugle is calling YOU!

If there is some way you can buy a bond... or ANOTHER bond... by pledging future earnings, by getting your bank to help, by tightening your belt a little more... as the boys "over there" must tighten theirs when the bugle sounds... do it NOW!

Over there, where failure means death, they're watching us. We mustn't let them down.

Bring up the reserves! If you haven't bought a Bond, buy one NOW. If you have already bought, buy AGAIN.

Credit Granters Hear Talk on Economic Trends

"Economies have come of age, there are fewer rugged individualists to amass vast and unneeded fortunes, but we have a better world on the whole. The engineer with the machine ran away with our civilization."

Prof. E. S. Parr in an address before the Credit Granters' Association at the last luncheon of the season in Spencer's dining-room, yesterday.

Prof. Parr spoke on the "Present Economic Trends," outlining the history of economics, which today took in banking, finance and international economy, and could be rightly called a science.

Universities were now taking an active part in preparing men and women for the realities of everyday life, he claimed, courses now included study of accounting, management and the interplay of land, capital and labor.

Economists were in business and government today, in Ottawa, in the Provincial Government and in Washington.

The results of putting social scientists into government could be seen by comparing the sky-rocketing of prices in the last world war, and the effective control in this war.

"We don't want a bureaucracy," he warned, "but a government of trained men that are representative of the people, and elected by them."

Twenty young women who had successfully completed a study of retail trade fundamentals and received diplomas, attended the luncheon as guests of the association.

Teacher: "Now, Monty, can you tell me what a grape is?"
Monty: "A gooseberry that's had a shave, sir."

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

First Compulsory Employment Transfer Order

NOTICE TO CERTAIN EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYEES

Notice is hereby given that men employed in certain specified lines of civilian employment, who are in age and marital classes already designated under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, must report for interview not later than May 19th, 1943, to an Employment and Selective Service Office.

A. Objectives

The Order makes available for essential employments the services of men in age and marital classes designated as callable for Military Training under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, who are presently employed in specified non-essential employments.

B. EMPLOYMENTS COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

Men, of the specified categories, are covered if now employed in any of the following industries:

(1) taverns; liquor, wine and beer stores; (2) retail sale of candy, confectionery, tobacco, books, stationery, news; (3) barber shops and beauty parlours; (4) retail and wholesale florists; (5) service stations (gasoline-filling stations); (6) retail sale of motor vehicles or accessories; (7) retail sale of sporting goods or musical instruments.

Also, men are covered if now employed in any of the following occupations, whether in above industries or not:

(1) waiter, taxi driver, elevator operator, hotel bell boy, domestic servant; (2) any occupation in or directly associated with entertainment, including but not restricted to theatres, film agencies, motion picture companies, clubs, bowling alleys, pool rooms; (3) any occupation in or directly associated with dyeing, cleaning, and pressing (not including laundry work); bath; guide service; shoe shining.

C. AGE AND MARITAL CLASSES OF MEN COVERED BY THIS ORDER:

(a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 (inclusive) who has reached age 19.

(b) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, at July 15th, 1940, was: (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children.

(c) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who has since July 15, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living.

(d) Every man born from 1902 to 1916 (inclusive) who, since July 15, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

D. Procedure to be Followed:

All men as defined above must report to an Employment and Selective Service Office not later than May 19th, 1943, Men resident outside a city or town having an Employment and Selective Service Office, who are too far removed to call personally, may write to the nearest office in the first instance, and await further directions.

E. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYEES:

When directed to accept employment, subsequent to the interview referred to, men described in Paragraphs B and C above are required by the Regulations to follow the direction given.

F. OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYERS:

It will be illegal for an employer to retain in his employ after May 19th, 1943, any men referred to in Paragraph C above, at any of the employments set forth in Paragraph B above, unless a special permit has been obtained from a National Selective Service Officer, permitting such action.

G. Transportation:

Special provisions will be made for the transportation of men moved to work at a new place of residence.

H. Appeals:

If directed to transfer to employment subsequent to interview, a man may, if he objects, enter appeal with a Court of Referees, within 7 days of receiving such direction.

I. Penalties in Case of Employers:

Penalties are provided for any employer who retains in, or takes into, his employ after May 19th, 1943, any man covered by the Order, except under special permit.

J. Penalties in Case of Employees:

Penalties are provided for failure on the part of any employed man affected, to register under this Order, or to follow a subsequent direction to employment, and in addition to other penalties, refusal to comply renders a man liable to compulsory labour service in an Alternative Service Work Camp.

K. Special Request to Employers:

Each employer with three or more men covered by this Order in his employ is requested to co-operate by getting in touch with the Employment and Selective Service Office, to arrange a time for the interviews of his employees.

L. Authority:

This Order is issued under authority conferred on the Minister of Labour by National Selective Service Civilian Regulations (P.C. 246 of January 19th, 1943, and amending Orders in Council).

Men referred to above must present documents at the employment office, indicating compliance with Mobilization Regulations
